Hampstead Garden Suburb

INGRAM AVENUE – AREA 14

Date of observations: June 2012

This report has three elements.

1. A brief overview account of the trees in the area.
2. An area map showing;
  - the location of TPO trees,
  - trees shown on Unwin's 1913 map and,
  - other trees which make a significant contribution to the local streetscape.
3. A spreadsheet providing full details of the observations.

Area 14 Overview

Date of Observations September 2015 – October 2015

Introduction

Area 14 lies in the southeast part of the Suburb. The land rises in a gentle slope from the Heath Extension towards Hampstead Lane in the southeast. Ingram Avenue follows the slope in a rough 'S' shape, cutting through the old woodland of Turners Wood. The greater part of Turners Wood remains, and is covered by an Area TPO but there is no public access. For this reason, and because it is impossible to estimate the number of trees that it contains, Turners Wood is not included in the TPO totals. Although Ingram Avenue was not developed until the 1930s, it was planned much earlier as an area of large houses for the wealthy, and many of the oaks from the pre-existing Turners Wood were retained. The retained oaks at the front of houses are now few in number, but in rear gardens mature oaks remain as a fine background to the Neo-Georgian houses.

The houses in this area are set amongst green, undeveloped spaces. To the west, and south of the first and middle sections of the Ingram Avenue, they back onto the remains of Turners Wood which is, by restrictive covenant, a nature reserve, maintained by the residents of the surrounding houses. Exceptionally well-shaped mature trees are visible over roofs and between houses, particularly between houses 2-4 Ingram Avenue; 30 Ingram Avenue sits on a double plot and, from the street, there are fine views into the wood through this garden.

To the north and east of the first and middle sections of the Avenue, the retained trees on the grounds of Hampstead Golf Club provide a similar backdrop to the houses. The great majority of these trees are already covered by TPOs, although it is usually impossible to confirm an exact location from the road.

The third section of the road, after the second bend in the dogleg, is marked by the large group of trees at the bottom of the garden of no 38, by the junction with Spaniards Close. Unlike the first two sections of the avenue there is no backdrop of ancient oaks here or in nearby Spaniards Close, although in the close the numerous trees planted in front gardens compensate for this.

The short section of Winnington Road included in Area 14 is characterised by large houses that suffer from an absence of notable, mature trees in their gardens. In contrast, the fine trees at either end of Kenwood Close, which nestles below Hampstead Way, greatly enhance the view along it as one enters from Winnington Road.

The overall impression is of an exceptionally wooded and leafy area where large houses sit comfortably in generous plots containing many mature forest trees. Trees frame both entrances to Ingram Avenue and to Spaniards Close and the carriage drives are sometimes marked with formal, symmetrical planting of ornamental trees. As in the nearby Wildwood Road, the abundance of fine trees means that the bar for identification as 'significant tree' is set very high in this area.

Species in Area 14

Oak (47) is the most numerous species, and dominates the character of the area, followed by birch, hornbeam and various conifers. Flowering cherry trees are found in front gardens.

TPO Trees in Area 14

74 TPO trees are shown on the 2012 Barnet Map of this section of the conservation area. Of these, 55 were observed and 19 are missing. Interestingly, only 6 of the 19 missing TPO trees are oaks; younger trees (weeping willow, flowering cherry) probably planted at the time of development or later are the ones that have not survived. There are no TPO Queries in Area 14.

Unwin Trees

There are no Unwin trees in this area, which was not included on the 1913 Unwin map. Undoubtedly, all the TPO oaks are retained from the original landscape and are of a similar age to the Unwin trees mapped in other areas.

Groups of significant trees in Area 14

There are four groups of trees of especial note in this area. Firstly, the line of magnificent oaks on the north and north-west boundaries of Area 14; their impact on the ambiance of the Ingram Avenue has already been described. They are all protected by TPOs (T5 through to T33) and the line can be clearly traced on the map.

Secondly, the group of trees in the large side garden of 30 Ingram Avenue; here, two TPO oaks and a TPO false acacia combine with group of younger trees (conifer, beech and ash) which are located near the site of the missing T82 forming an attractive sequence of trees through which there are views of Turners Wood trees in the background. This green space and these trees are a major focus of the middle section of the avenue and make a strong contribution the character of the road.

Thirdly, at the junction of Ingram Avenue and Spaniards Close, a group of 6-7 trees, beech, ash, and sycamore, run along the boundary of the garden of 38 Ingram Avenue providing a tree-lined entrance to the close, signalling a more intimate and quiet setting in comparison with wider Ingram Avenue.

Fourthly, at the head of Spaniards Close, two mature and spreading cedars make a strong group marking the head of the close.

Individual trees of note in Area 14

Most of the individual trees of note are already protected by TPOs, but it is still worth noting those trees which make a particular impact. The oak T16 in front of 15 Ingram Avenue is exceptional in its height, shape and condition. It shades the road and pavement and is a major feature of this section of the road. Next door in front of no. 17, an equally fine oak (INGRT04) marks the corner and anchors the views in both directions. This tree does not have a TPO in its own right but is in the location of a group TPO which may also include some of the lesser trees on the boundary with no. 15. This tree is recommended for consideration for a TPO.

Another oak in front of 27 Ingram Avenue makes an impact in a section of the road where there are few trees in front gardens, and where a number of trees are missing.

Tree Preservation Order Recommendations

Only one tree (INGRT04) in Area 14 is recommended for consideration for a Tree Preservation Order; this is no surprise, given that most of the mature trees are already protected by TPOs (see Spreadsheet).
